Guideline list

This is the full set of rules/guidelines for all platforms.

> These rules are always subject to change. We will always try to inform you of any significant changes so that you can stay updated.

General

Age requirement

Inferris is an age-restricted community for individuals aged 17 and above. You must be at least 17 years old to participate.

Respect and civility

Treat all members with respect and courtesy. Harassment, hate speech, or any form of discrimination will not be tolerated.

Content and Posting

No spamming

Do not spam with repetitive or irrelevant messages. Keep discussions meaningful and on-topic.

No self-promotion

Avoid self-promotion or advertising of other Minecraft servers, Discord communities, or unrelated products/services.

Banned topics and offensive content

Discussions or content related to explicit, sexual, or adult themes are strictly prohibited. Such content is not suitable for this community. Additionally, the following topics are banned and should not be discussed or shared on any of our platforms:

- Any form of hate speech, including racism, sexism, or discrimination based on race, gender, religion, or any other protected category.

- Discussions promoting or glorifying violence, self-harm, or harm to others.
- Content or discussions related to illegal activities, including but not limited to illegal drug use, hacking, or any activities that violate local laws or regulations.
- Additionally, discussions related to cheating, exploiting, or hacking in Minecraft or other games are also prohibited, except when reporting someone. If you'd like to report someone, please contact the community team!

Stay on topic

Keep your contributions relevant to the discussion at hand.

> In the context of the Inferris Minecraft server, we encourage a friendly and flexible approach to staying on topic. While we value organic and genuine conversations, intentionally hijacking ongoing discussions—especially in a negative, trolling, or spammy manner—may still result in a violation of this rule. We believe in fostering a welcoming environment where players can connect and enjoy their time together. So, feel free to engage in a wide range of conversations related to the server's activities, but remember to be considerate of the ongoing discussion's tone and direction.

Necro-Posting policy (forums)

> Currently, necro-posting (reviving old threads) is allowed. However, ensure your reply adds value to the existing discussion.

Respect privacy

Do not share personal information of yourself or others without consent. Protect your privacy and respect the privacy of fellow members.

Community Interaction

Reporting issues

If you encounter any violations of these rules or have concerns, report them to the moderators/admins using the appropriate areas.

Moderators' decisions

Respect the decisions and instructions of moderators and administrators. They are here to ensure a positive community experience. If you have a complaint, direct it to the community team - they'd love to help!

Account Management

Multiple accounts

Do not create multiple accounts to evade bans or for any deceptive purposes.

Legal compliance

Follow all applicable laws and regulations when participating in this community.

Revision #18
Created 18 September 2023 05:02:58 by Inferris Team
Updated 19 August 2024 23:46:26 by Azzy